

ABSTRACT

A method that includes obtaining human performance related data from at least one remotely located application service provider, organizing the data into at least one metric, preparing an interpretation of the data and providing interactive, on-line access to the data and 5 the interpretation.

30043466.doc